

Care and Guarantee of Sod

After installation of seed and sod, it should be watered until the soil beneath is thoroughly wet. Thereafter, the sod should be well watered every day for the first week to 10 days.....longer in hot weather.

Your sod should be helped to "grow-in" by fertilizing within 30 days of installation. Use a good slow-release turf type fertilizer.

Mow the new sod as soon as growth has begun again. The cardinal rule is to mow often to avoid removing too much top growth. Use a good "SHARP" blade on the mower and do not remove more than 1/3 of the blade length per mowing.

HILLERMANN'S will use a high quality sod that is capable of producing a successful lawn. However, we cannot control subsequent weather and care which determines the success or failure after the lawn is planted.

HILLERMANN'S therefore guarantees to the extent of the workmanship supplied. We guarantee proper grading and drainage on all work performed, but cannot guarantee against damage caused by erosion or washouts. We will not be responsible for repairs to lawns, et., due to earth settling around new construction sites since this cannot be predicted.
